

Table of Contents

STUDIES

TAMÁS ULLMANN: The Phenomenology of Shame	3
MARK LANG: The Place of Love in the Philosophy of Søren Kierkegaard.	22
ZALÁN-GYÖRGY ILYÉS: On the Political and Ontological Significance of the Category of Impossibility in the Philosophy of Giorgio Agamben	36
LAJOS ANDRÁS KISS: Jean-Luc Nancy, the Tracker of the Political	57
LÁSZLÓ ROPOLYI: Three Worlds.	69
LEVENTE PAPP : Life, Mind and Artificial Intelligence.	82
ATTILA KOVÁCS – MIHAI BURLACU: Challenges of Studying Virtual Heterotopias . . .	94
GIZELLA HORVÁTH: Human, All Too Human. The Artworld and Identity Discourses	103
DÉNES TAMÁS: Who Owns Petőfi? On Some Problems of Public Sculpture	118
ILDIKÓ VERES: Theory, the Lived Situation and Experience. On Certain Periods in the Lives of Károly Böhm, Béla Zalai and Béla Hamvas	131
ALPÁR GERGELY P.: Checking the Validity of Some Syllogistic Moods Using the Method of Venn Diagrams	145

WORKSHOP

MÓNIKA RANCZ: The Metaphor of Critique and the Critique of Metaphor. Jean-Jacques Rousseau's Conception of Art and Cultural Criticism	161
EMESE KUNKLI: „Whatever He Might Feel, Acted with All the Firmness of a Collected Mind”	176
MARK-ALEK SĂPĂȚARU: Music as Temporary Salvation in Arthur Schopenhauer's Philosophy	189
TAMÁS BECK: From Leaping-in to Unburdening of Existence. Undrawn Consequences for Being and Time	205
RÓBERT HUSZTIG: Variations in the Development of Karl Rahner's Conception of Death.	213

REVIEWS

ANDRÁS ÁRON IVÁCSON: Husserl's Universal Significance	228
MÓNIKA RANCZ: Mimesis of a (Memorial) Volume	233
ZALÁN-GYÖRGY ILYÉS: Point and Points	240

RÉKA ERŐSS: Possibilities and Limits of Philosophy in Existing Socialism245

KÁROLY VERESS: Change of Perspective in Writing the History of Philosophy248

SOCIETY COMMUNICATIONS

ENIKŐ BITAY: Transylvania’s Hungarian Sciences Day.
President’s Opening Speech254

ENIKŐ BITAY: Gallery of Portraits from the Transylvanian Museum Society.
Documentaries and portraits film series256